

Benedicto "Benny" Molina

November 21, 1958 - December 1, 2022

Benedicto "Benny" Molina of Benson passed away in Phoenix on December 1, 2022, at the age of 64. At his request, no service will be held.

Tribute Wall

BR

“ I met Benny about 9 months ago. Lent a hand to him and his dog. I've thought about him daily and stopped by his place today. It was empty and I spoke to a neighbor who said he passed. He touched my soul and I felt a great connection with him. Very kind and respectful. He offered to make me something for the help, however I never got to see him again. Love and prayers to him and his loved ones.

Becky Ramos - February 09, 2023 at 09:15 PM

“ Benedicto "Benny" Molina

January 30, 2023 at 12:50 AM

WB

“ The Sandman.

will brown - January 13, 2023 at 01:18 AM

WB

“ Hello dear friends, family, relatives, I'm sorry he is gone. I made friends of sorts with Benny some several years ago when I first moved here to Benson. However, there were circumstances regarding himself & his cohorts that caused me to break off the contact. I do not want to get into that detail herein. I thought he was a person of some estimable substance. We used to trade books, CDs, DVD's & other things. One of the DVDs I lent him was the movie Gormenghast, which I suspect may have disturbed him. Maybe about the "Bright Carvers" in the movie, who made wonderful wood carvings & such. I know he was engaged in sandblasting, which is why I called him & gave him the nickname: "The Sandman". RIP.

will brown - January 13, 2023 at 01:16 AM

SH

It is with sorrow that I heard of Benny's death. I have known him for several decades. A most kind, caring, and happy person. I shall always remember his smile and his laughter, no matter how difficult life got for him. A friend forever....

Shirley Hamill - January 26, 2023 at 09:01 AM