

Carol (Wilson) Dolaghan

December 25, 1955 - June 15, 2023

Carol (Wilson) Dolaghan was born in Muleshoe, Texas to Harold and Peggy Wilson on December 25th, 1955. She was raised in Willcox, Arizona and went to college at Northern Arizona University, where she met her husband, John Dolaghan. She had three children: Peggy, Caitlin, and Wilson. In Livermore California, she worked as a teacher in the public school system, also teaching ESL to adults. After moving back to the Tucson area, she worked as a teacher at a continuation school and as a tutor and professional development coordinator at Pima Community College. She enjoyed reading, writing, singing, hiking, traveling, cooking, baking, sewing, knitting, and quilting. In the years after her retirement, she was treated for mantle cell lymphoma. She died of complications from Covid on June 15th, 2023. She is preceded in death by her father Harold, her brother Tommy, her husband John, and her daughter Caitlin. She is survived by her mother Peggy, her sisters Cathy, Becky, and Robin, and her children Peggy and Wilson. In her last week of life, she expressed a desire to write a book about the rivers of New Mexico and Arizona.

Carol's services will be held on Saturday, July 8th at noon, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in the NE Chapel, 7650 N Paseo del Norte, Tucson, AZ.
