What a precious woman. She was such a precious Mother, Grandmother, Wife, and role model to all. May she rest in peace with her beloved sons and prepare her eternal home for all her family she left behind.

“ My dear sweet loving mother had been battling end-stage renal failure and was a real trooper throughout it all. She was a woman who exhibited great strength, courage, love and compassion. She, along with our dad, gave us a firm religious foundation on which to base our future lives.

Our mom sacrificed so much to raise all eleven of us children, educating us along the way, baking oatmeal cookies to share at school, preparing our school lunches so they were all lined up in a row ready for us to pick up on our way out as we pecked her on the cheek. "Que Dios te vendiga", she would say to us.

Mom loved each one of us and did her best to raise us content and happy. I will always treasure my childhood, growing up with all my ten siblings, walking hand-in-hand with her to go visiting, and jumping into bed with her late at night when I saw boogey men in the closet. I also will treasure all the quilts she so lovingly sewed for us, and the green chili and bean tamales I loved.

I will always remember that she taught us to say "Hasta manana!" each night to each other as we all went to bed (Until tomorrow). We love her immensely and will miss her for the rest of our lives. Mom, 'Hasta Manana'. I know I will see you again, and that is a great comfort to me.

I love you so very much, Mom!
