“ George you were my light when all was dark, the Angel that gave me my strength in the times that I was weak. My hero when I needed protection and my knight in shining armor when I needed saving. You were always there for me to give me a laugh when all I could do was cry and always dried my eyes to keep me from drowning in my tears. The words of wisdom that you shared with me and the many things you taught me all served me well, my dream had come true all because of you. Thank you so much darlin' for always being happy ole you. My heart is sad that my best friend got wings and flew away. God gave you your wings and off you flew to a more beautiful you. Now I know that no matter where I go, I will always have you darlin' looking down on me with golden wings from heaven above. Now your spirit is free and you will now be with your love so divine how the two of you will shine in the house of God now and forever where there is no end in time. I Love You So Much. Rest Happy My Sweet Angel.
