“ I am Carole Bartlett Foss, Jim's older sister. Jim was one of 7 children I was 18 years old when our Mom brought him home from the hospital. Needless to say all the siblings were so happy to have a baby in the home. I must say he was quite spoiled growing up with so many older siblings. At this point the remaining siblings, except for one, are in our 80's and with some health issues and all living on the east coast. I have just now found his obituary and reading the replies from so many overwhelms me. I want to thank each and everyone here that were his friends and have written such kind and thoughtful words about our baby brother. At the beginning of his illness our greatest worry was that he was so far away and we could not be of much help to him, but now we know he had his own "little family" there. Thank you all for being his friend. His siblings, Carole, Judy, Royce and Margie.
