“ Kevin,

My grandmother fell in love with you when you met Jennifer, then Jennifer did also. You have had my friendship over the past 22 years and I was honored to call you brother.

I feel so sad that you left my house for the last time, and I wont see you anymore, my heart breaks daily when I think of the fact you are really gone :(

“ I remember how happy all the family was to go for a visit to see you, aunt Beverly and uncle Buzz. I remember how we loved to go outside and catch tadpoles, have the rooster chase us and playing tricks on grandma. How fun it was to play on the speakers in between grandmas and your house. You, Heidi and me were best friends and not just cousins, all my good memories of being younger had you in them. Im sorry that time and distance came between us. This has all been so heartbreaking. I still cant believe your gone. I wish we could turn back time and i was there for you to have a shoulder to lean on. It is sad that some people can be so mean and hurtful for their own selfish ways and dont realize the pain they are causing others. I am at least happy that we had time together at the last family reunion, i got to meet your beautiful children and got to see how proud you were to be their dad and how they meant the world to you. You were an amazing person cousin and had a heart of gold. You were a beautiful soul, and i miss you every second of every day. Say hi to our family up there. I love you forever until we meet again.

Kyle and Katelyn, I'm so sorry for your terrible loss. Aunt Pam is here for you! My deepest sympathies to the friends and family of Kevin Dobell. He was called brother by me, since he was in our life 17 years. My sister still lives him so much, he was always there for me and I bailed him out of situations too. Kevin, I believe the good book says we'll see each other again my brother. Rest In Peace.
