“ Aunt Mama will certainly be missed. Indeed, nobody could ever fill her shoes. She taught me so much from diapers to discipline and I don't know how we would have raised our kids without her. Both she and Papa Ken gave of themselves every single day and put the needs of others above their own. I remember the Baby School plays, the shared recipes, and the elaborate Christmas pageant costumes she made for the children in the church. And I remember the special adult conversations just between the two of us about political issues, home decorating, God, and marriage. We all loved her and will miss her greatly!
