“Pauline loved the Lord, her family, music, and dogs. She would share whenever the opportunity arose. When she learned I have a teenage daughter, I received bags of paperback books - the Christian version of Harlequin Romance. When she discovered we share a passion for rocks and shells, she would sort through her collection and if one appeared to be a duplicate, in box for me it went. And when it came to dogs, she had "lots of lovins to give." She attributed her beauty, despite her years, to having very little stress in her life. Sharon, no mother could ask for better care than you provided Pauline. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to help care for her. Kate Taber
